

Personal Data Usage Statement

Future Intelligence Technology Inc. (hereinafter referred to as the Company) within the scope of the Company's operating area and operating period, in accordance with the Personal Data Protection Act (hereinafter referred to as PDPA), to inform you of the following:

1. Within the scope of reasonable purpose related to the Company's operations: 135 Information/Communication services; 136 Information/Communication and database management; 090 Consumer/Customer management and service; 040 Marketing (including joint marketing for financial holding company); 020 Agency and brokerage business; 181 Other business items registered in the business certification or those specified in the article of incorporation; 182 Other advisory and consulting business, the Company will collect and obtain your personal data or other information that can directly or indirectly identify you. The Company will follow the provisions of the PDPA and relevant laws and regulations. It may collect, process, use, and/or transfer your personal data internationally
2. The period during which the Company uses your personal information is during the existence of the Company or any surviving company after merger, and the region is global. The recipients of your personal information are institutions with which the Company has business dealings, engaged in joint marketing or cooperative promotion, and use the data to adopt either automated or non-automated personal data usage methods.
3. In accordance with the PDPA of the Republic of China, you have the following rights regarding your personal information: 1. request for an inquiry or review. 2. obtain a copy. 3. request supplementation or correction. 4. request suspension of collection, processing, and use. 5. request deletion. However, if the information is necessary for the Company's duties or business operations, the Company may refuse your requests. If you suffer any damage due to exercising the above rights, the Company will not be responsible for any compensation. In addition, in accordance with Article 14 of the PDPA, the Company may charge administrative fees for processing your requests.
4. You have the right to choose whether or not to provide relevant personal information. However, if you refuse to provide such information, the Company will not be able to execute the specific purposes of the notification, therefore will not be able to provide you with related services.
5. If the personal data you provide is reported or found to be insufficient to verify your identity or involves impersonation, misappropriation, or inaccuracies of personal information, the Company has the right to temporarily suspend the provision of related services or benefits to you.
6. If you have any questions, please contact the Company through its website's contact information.